

On domination number of Johnson graphs

Seung-ah Lee¹

¹*Pusan National University*

July 19, 2024

The Johnson graph is a fundamental notion in combinatorial graph theory. First introduced in 1955, it was named after Selmer M. Johnson. While its rich algebraic properties are well understood, combinatorial information remains relatively scarce. In this paper, we derive a bound for the domination number of the Johnson graph.